The Beauty of Wood in a Rich, Practical Finish

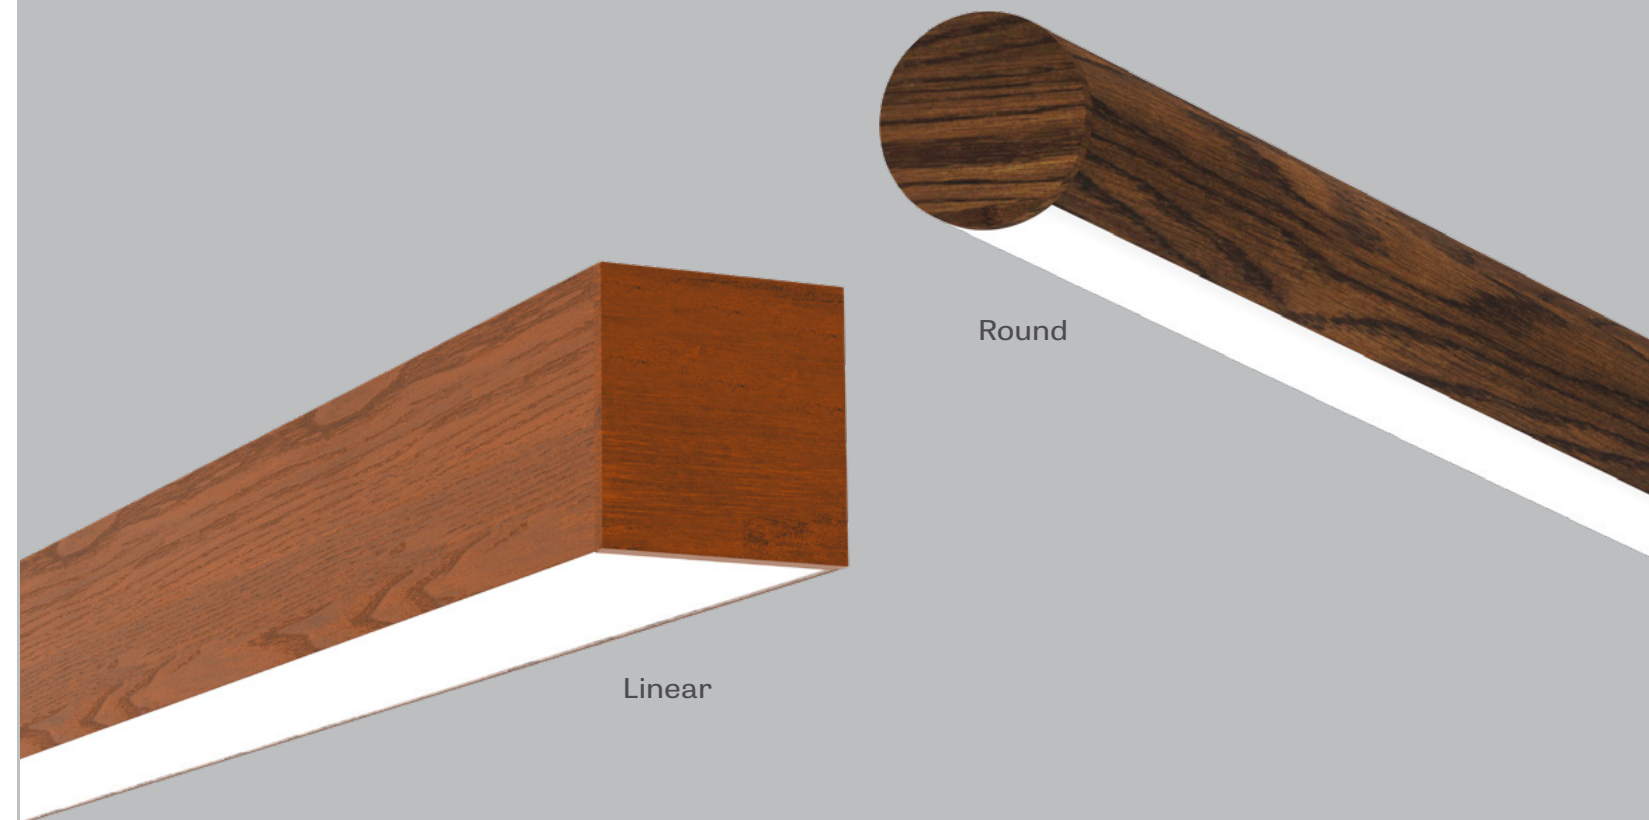

Madera-finished luminaires look just like the genuine article, offer a fresh and natural take on familiar lighting forms, and complement the familiar materials of interior architecture with a warm touch.

Madera combines powder coating and photographic film thermal transfer to create remarkably realistic and durable wood-grain finishes. It's a wood finish made practical for today's lighting equipment.

Madera finishes are available on LumenWerx pendant, surface, and wall luminaires, pictured here are just a few of the options. All luminaires are CUL listed, consult factory for pricing and more information.
